DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Amendment received on 2/26/2007 is acknowledged and entered. Claims 1, 3-7 and 10-46 are currently pending in the application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 14-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 14-17 refers to a system, thereby lacking antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 12 and 14-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wharton (US 2005/0027610) in view of Bednarek (US 6,965,868).

Wharton teaches a method and system for dynamically converting data between a mobile station in a wireless communication network and an origin server in a wide area network, comprising:

Claims 12 and 14-18, sending from a customer device a Wireless Markup Language (WML) encoded URL request for a resource; receiving said request at a gateway server and re-formatting said request into HTML format; communicating said re-formatted request to a particular resource information on the World Wide Web, and receiving the requested resource information at said gateway; parsing said received resource information and re-formatting the processed information into WML encoded message to transmit it back to the customer device; sending a purchase request to a merchant website; sending a purchase request response, including a payment authorization request, from the merchant website to a payment authorization system; and transmitting said purchase request response to the customer device (Figs. 1 and 4); [0009]; [0010]; [0046]; [0051]; [0053].

While Wharton teaches that said arrangement is implemented in a wireless network, Wharton does not specifically teach a customer mobile device.

Bednarek teaches a method and system for promoting e-commerce, wherein a merchant sells goods or services using a website, and a customer communicates with the merchant via a customer mobile device, wherein data transmitted between the merchant and the customer mobile device is converted by the server to a format that can be displayed on the customer mobile device (C. 68, L. 65 – C. 69, L. 15).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Wharton to include that communication with the customer is conducted by means of customer mobile device, as disclosed in Bednarek; because it would advantageously allow to provide the customer with information correlated to the customer current cellular position, such as gas stations, hotels, restaurants and grocery stores, as specifically stated in Bednarek, thereby providing convenience to the customer.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 12 and 14-18 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure (see form PTO-892).
